

Parental Authorization to Administer Topical Basic Care Products

Topical basic care products such as diaper rash products, sunscreen, insect repellent, or occasionally lotions authorized and supplied by the child's parent, may be applied without prior approval of a licensed health care practitioner.

The following guidelines and parental authorization to administer are required by SSPC CC:

Each item must be provided by the child's parent/guardian in an original, sealed container and labeled with the child's name.

Please note that use of these products may occasionally cause a skin reaction.

If this occurs, we will discontinue use of the product, wash the affected skin and notify you so you can seek advice from your health care professional . We may require medical authorization to resume use of these products. Please administer these products at home first to monitor any potential reactions.
